A Katie Cardew Commission

Katie Cardew commissions are something to cherish forever. They are a snapshot in time; a memory of a home, your family or a wedding day. Katie started taking commissions in 2013 and almost a decade later, she still absolutely adores illustrating commissions; the smiles they bring to people is simply soul warming. She takes only a handful a year, which makes them particularly special.

Katie works from photographs; with many commissions under her belt, Katie is exceptionally good at bringing out the character in a building and capturing the personality of the people she draws.

To complete your commission, all Katie requires are high resolution photos of the people/family. Katie's lovely framer Sally will then frame the commission in a handmade oak frame.

PHOTOGRAPHY

- Katie requires one or two clear photos of the person/people.
- The people need to be wearing the clothing and in the pose they would like to be drawn in. The people need to be photographed together if it's a group shot
- Please send the images via We-Transfer as emails often reduce the file size (just type We Transfer into Google if you are unsure, it's very easy to use).
- If including animals in the family photo is not achievable, please email photos of the pets next to a member of the family so Katie can see their relative size.
- If the photos are not deemed to be good enough to work from, Katie has the right to cancel the commission.
